PERSONAL

A healthy, creative balance in life is important to me. I'm highly motivated and work hard, keeping myself fresh by enjoying the interests in my life.

My passion for design extends from the built form to print and new media, with an emphasis on the experiential. Within architecture, I particularly delight in clean detailing, quality materials and a solid contextual foundation. I love to engage with projects through hand drawings, physical models and making objects. I thrive on a healthy studio environment; learning from others, passing on knowledge and quickly adapting to new workflows.
